Seo an chéad "BRÓD na Gaeltachta", féile stairiúil i gCloich Cheann Fhaola 18ú – 23ú Iúil.
Féile le cur chuige ionchuimsitheach a bheidh ann ach béim láidir ar an phobal LADTAI+ anseo sa Ghaeltacht. Tá an fhéile dhátheangach agus beidh tús áite i gcónaí ag an Ghaeilge
Ní bheadh an fhéile stairiúil seo á cur ar siúl gan an tacaíocht agus an fuinneamh a tugadh dúinn uaibhse an pobal galánta, anseo i gCloich Cheann Fhaola agus a chairde uilig. Léirigh sibh meas agus bród dúinn agus thug sibh uchtach agus go leor gáire dúinn chun leanúint ar aghaidh leis an eagrúchán ar fad.

Go raibh míle maith agaibh ó chroí agus bainigí sult as BRÓD a chairde!

Ó chriú Bród na Gaeltachta, Cloich Cheann Fhaola

This is the inaugural BRÓD na Gaeltachta, an historic community festival for Cloich Cheann Fhaola 18th - 23rd July.
This is an all inclusive festival highlighting the LGBTQI+ community and we have a program of bilingual events which give pride and priority to our Gaelic roots.
This festival would not be possible without your support and energy, the amazing and kind community of Cloich Cheann Fhaola and our friends. You showed us respect, courage, laughs and pride to keep organising.
Thank you from the bottom of our hearts and.... HAPPY PRIDE!

BRÓD na Gaeltachta, Cloich Cheann Fhaola

Tá lúcháir orm gur pobal cuimsitheach muid agus go mbeidh muid ábalta ardán agus tacaíocht iomlán a thabhairt do phobal LADTAI+

Ní neart go cur le chéile.
Caitlín Nic Aoidh.

I'd like to wish Bród na Gaeltachta all the very best with the festival.

Na Gay Gaels - Brian Lacey

An tSean Bhearic

8pm

Sa bhliain 1634 rinne parlaimint cóilíneach na hÉireann dlí úr i gcoinne na sodamachta - an chéad agus an t-aon dlí mar sin a rinneadh anseo in Éirinn, riamh. Roimhe sin bhí Éire Gaelach i bhfad níos báúla ó thaobh an homaighnéasaigh de. Sa chaint dhátheangach seo (le sleamhnáin) beidh Brian ag plé stair an homaighnéasaigh agus an t-aiteacht in Éire Gaelach ó thús na haimsire stairiúla, ag tosnú le Naomh Pádraig agus teacht na Críostaíochta síos go dtí deireadh na ré gaelaí ag tús an seachtú haois déag. Beidh scéaltaí fá choinne rudaí mar sin á lua ag Brian ó na sean-lámhscríbhínní: na dlíthe breithiúna, na téacsanna cráifeacha - mar shampla beathaí na naoimh agus dlíthe na heaglaise, agus dántaí na bhfilí Gaelacha ina measc.

In 1634 the colonial Irish parliament passed a law against sodomy. It was the first and only such law (criminalising homosexuality and queer behaviour) ever enacted in Ireland. Gaelic Ireland had been a lot more relaxed about such matters. In this illustrated, bilingual talk Brian will be looking at the history of homosexuality and queerness in Ireland from the beginning of the historic period with the arrival of St Patrick and Christianity down to the end of Gaelic Ireland at the beginning of the 17th century. Brian will refer to stories in the ancient manuscripts about such matters in a variety of old texts such as the Brehon Laws, religious writing - for example the saints' Lives and church laws, and the homoerotic poetry of the Gaelic bards.

Seandálaí agus staraí de chuid luath-mheánaois na hÉireann is ea Brian Lacey, údar an leabhair “Terrible Queer Creatures: Homosexuality in Irish History.”
Ba ghníomhaí aerach é i nDoire sna 70í, 80í, agus 90í.

Brian Lacey, an archaeologist and historian of early medieval Ireland, is the author of the book: ‘Terrible Queer Creatures: homosexuality in Irish history’.
He was a gay activist in Derry in the 1970s, 80s and 90s.

For The Love of Mary

St. Ann’s Church, Killult
8.30pm Doors Open 8pm
Tickets €10

Feicthe trí shúile mná easáitithe as cúlra Protastúnach/Aontachtach ach a chaith a saol ina cónaí i gceantar Náisiúnach/Caitliceach i dTuaisceart na hÉireann, seo dráma a insíonn scéal faoi dhúspéis phearsanta sa Mhaighdean Mhuire agus a daonnacht caillte, faighte ar ais sna scéalta inste ag mná na hÉireann.

Viewed through the lens of a displaced woman from a Protestant/Unionist background who has spent most of her life living in Nationalist (Catholic) areas in the North of Ireland,‘For the Love of Mary’ maps a personal fascination with the Virgin Mary and her lost humanity, rediscovered in those stories shared by women living in Ireland.

Is ealaíontóir focal labhartha, scríbhneoir, déantóir amharclainne, ealaíontóir ilmheán agus aisteoir í Mel Bradley. Bailitheoir scéalta mná nár insíodh. Is feimineach neamhbhalbh aiteach í le guth macánta agus oibseisiún mífholláin leis an Mhaighdean Mhuire. Deir sí féin gurb é ginias cruthaitheach atá inti agus chomh luaineach leis an ngaoth. Thosaigh sí a gairm focal labhartha mar “slam poet” agus anois tá trí seó focal labhartha agus dráma amháin deánta aici.

Mel Bradley is a spoken word artist, writer, playwright/ theatre-maker, multimedia artist and actor. A gatherer of the untold stories of women. An outspoken queer feminist performer with a candid voice and an unhealthy obsession in the Virgin Mary. A self-described creative genius with the attention span of a gnat who began her spoken word career as a slam poet and now boast three spoken words shows, and a play.
